UNIVERSITY OF HELSINKI

https://helda.helsinki.fi

Re-Conceptualizing the Chornobyl Exclusion Zone: Markiyan Kamysh's Stalking the Atomic City

Häkkinen, Inna

Singh, Bijender; Chelliah, S

2023-05-23

http://hdl.handle.net/10138/570526

Häkkinen, I 2023, Re-Conceptualizing the Chornobyl Exclusion Zone: Markiyan Kamysh's Stalking the Atomic City. in B Singh & S Chelliah (eds), World Literature. Words of Wisdom. Malik&Sons, pp. 53-65.

Downloaded from Helda, University of Helsinki institutional repository. https://helda.helsinki.fi
This is an electronic reprint of the original article.
This reprint may differ from the original in pagination and typographic detail.
Please cite the original version.

Contributors

Dr Inna Häkkinen is a researcher of Helsinki Environmental Humanities Hub, the Department of Cultures, the University of Helsinki (Finland). Nowadays she is a fellow of the Institute of Advanced Studies Köszeg (Hungary). Her current project is focused on researching the literary dimensions of nuclear energy within energy literary narrative studies. She teaches courses on nuclear narrative studies and Chornobyl studies at the University of Helsinki. After defending her PhD in Literary Studies (Dnipro National University, Ukraine), she has been a research fellow of Erasmus Mundus (Bologna, 2008; Turku, 2011-2012), Cambridge Colleges Hospitality Scheme (2013), SUSI (Ohio, 2016), Open Society Foundation/ Artes Liberales Foundation (Warsaw, 2016-2017), University of Jyväskylä Visiting Fellowship Programme (Jyväskylä, 2021), the Polish Institute of Advanced Studies Fellowship Programme (Warsaw, 2021). She is among the contributors of The Routledge Handbook of Ecocriticism and Environmental Communication (2019) and Springer's Energy Humanities and Energy Transition: Current State and Future Directions (2021). Her general research interests lie within environmental humanities, energy humanities, ecocriticism, nuclear criticism, literary energy narrative studies, nuclear fiction, Chornobyl fiction, energy ethics. She is a member of the Association for Literary Urban Studies (Finland), HELSUS (Finland), the Finnish Society for Development Research (Finland), and Nordic Association for American Studies (NAAS).

Dr Elham Hossain is a Professor of English in Dhaka City College under National University, Bangladesh. He is a researcher, editor, essayist, translator and literary critic. He is a BA (Hons) in English, MA, MPhil and PhD. He has authored 13 books and translated a good number of fictions and short stories both from English to Bengali and from Bengali to English. More than 50 of his research articles have appeared in academic journals of home and abroad. He has experience of teaching in different universities. His areas of interest are African Literature, Subaltern Studies, Translation Studies, Colonial and Postcolonial Literature, South Asian Literature and Literary Theories.

Dr Nooshan Ashtari currently teaches at the University of Southern California in the US. She has spent the last two decades teaching and conducting research in various countries around the world. She supports authentic and powerful portrayals of women and immigrants in all aspects of life including in world literature. Her research interests include the abundant powers of diverse cultures and languages such as their intersections with literature, technology and language education, as well as heritage language development.

Abdelghafour Benlahbib is an academic researcher who has made significant contributions to the study of Moroccan history and society. He has spoken at numerous conferences and published widely on various topics related to Moroccan political identity, Anglophone narratives, and the history and society of Morocco. His research and insights have helped to deepen our understanding of Moroccan culture, identity, and politics.

Kevin Martens Wong is a gay, non-binary Kristang/Portuguese-Eurasian speculative fiction writer, independent scholar and linguist born, bred and based in Singapore. He leads the internationally-recognised grassroots movement to revitalise the Kristang language in Singapore, Kodrah Kristang, and won the 2017 Lee Hsien Loong Award for Outstanding All-Round Achievement and the President of Singapore's Volunteer and Philanthropy Award (Individual–Youth). He currently runs his own coaching initiative, Merlionsman (merlionsman.com).

Dr Savita Singh is the Head in the Department of English at Government Nagarjuna PG College of Science, Raipur, Chhattisgarh. She has 29 years of teaching experience. She has guided 50 MPhil scholars and 16 scholars have been awarded PhD under her guidance. Her focus areas are Indian Writing in English, American Literature and ELT, Criticism, Fiction and Poetry. She has co-authored 3 books and written 30 articles. She is invited to Refresher Courses, Conferences and Webinars. She is the Patron of the ELTAI, Raipur Chapter, and the Chhattisgarh English Teachers' Association.

Dr Kinshuk Majumdar is an Associate Professor in the Department of English at Shyam Lal College, University of Delhi. He holds an MA, MPhil and PhD from Jamia Millia Islamia. He has published several papers in reputed journals and has presented papers in many national seminars. His areas of interest are Third World Literature, Literary Theory, Indian Literature and Mythological Stories.

Dr Zeba Siddiqui is an Associate Professor at Amity School of Languages, Amity University, Madhya Pradesh. She is a PhD in English Literature from Jiwaji University, Madhya Pradesh and is currently working as an Associate Professor in Amity School of Languages at Amity University, Madhya Pradesh. Dr Siddiqui has a rich experience of around 16 years and is currently guiding 4 research scholars. She has published about 18 research papers in national and international journals and has attended many workshops, seminars and international conferences. She is a keen researcher and specializes in Post- Colonial Literature, Mysticism and Neuro Linguistic Programming in English Language Teaching. She is an IELTS Trainer from British Council, New Delhi. She also earned TESOL–220 hours Advanced Diploma with practicum teaching at Bangkok, Thailand in 2016. Dr Siddiqui is also a Certified NLP Practitioner of Neuro Linguistic Programming approved by ABNLP (The American Board of Neuro-Linguistic Programming), School of Excellence, Approved Institute of Neuro-Linguistic Programming.

Dr P. Shanmuga Priya, (MA, MPhil, PhD, NET), is working as an Associate Professor of English at NPR College of Engineering and Technology, Natham, Dindigul and she holds the additional responsibilities of being the Co-ordinator of NPR IAS ACADEMY. She has 20 years of experience in teaching English. She acted as the resource person in many colleges to address the students on Communication Skills, Job Interview Techniques, Soft Skills etc. Her contribution as the resource person to four live webinars during the pandemic is remarkable. She is also handling English classes for UPSC and TNPSC aspirants. She presented papers in various National and International conferences. She runs her own you tube channel PSP ENGLISH ZONE. She also rendered her service as the founder Principal of a renowned Arts and Science College in Sivagangai.

Dr Jyoti Pandey is presently working as Associate Professor and Head, Department of English, SGRR PG College, Dehradun having joined the college in the year 2008. She had been awarded PhD in English in the year 2004 on the topic 'The Dilemma of a South African White in the Novels of Nadine Gordimer' from HNB Garhwal University. She had worked with a Dutch Company Larive International at New Delhi as Proofreader and English Translator from 2000-2004. Done a basic course in German language (Levels G1 and G2) from Max Mueller Bhawan, New Delhi and taught German language at AHA (Air Hostess Academy) Dehradun from 2004-2005. She has published several research papers both national and international journals. She has been the co-editor of a book entitled Ruminations: Essays, Cerebrations, Dialogues on Literature, Culture, Folklore and Society. Her areas of interest are African Writing and Indian Women Writing in English.

Dr V. Ganesan is an Associate Professor in the Department of English at Agurchand Manmull Jain College, Meenambakkam, Chennai. He has 27 years of teaching experience and has guided eight research scholars. He has published more than 50 research papers in national and international conferences. He is an expert in Japanese language and has written several books. His areas of specialization are Postcolonial Literature, Language and Linguistics, Literary Criticism, Diaspora and Translation.

Dr Parveen Bala is a seasoned academic and a force to be reckoned with in the world of English language and literature. Currently, she holds a prestigious position at the Department of English at JECRC University, Jaipur, Rajasthan. With over 23 years of teaching experience under her belt, Dr Bala is a true expert in her field. Her contribution to the academic world is nothing short of impressive, with 15 published research papers in both national and international journals and book chapters. In July 2011, she earned her coveted PhD degree from B. R. Ambedkar University, Agra, Uttar Pradesh (formerly known as Agra University, Agra). Apart from being an accomplished academic, Dr Parveen Bala is an active member of ELTAI (English Language Literature Teacher Association of India) and many other associations. Her areas of interest and specializations are Indian Literature and soft skills.

Dr Ritu Singh is an Associate Professor in the School of Humanities and Social Sciences at Sharda University. In the career span of over thirteen years in academics, she has handled and accomplished various academic and administrative responsibilities. An articulate and qualified English teacher, she is able to communicate effectively with students from diverse backgrounds and with varying degrees of ability and proficiency. Prior to Sharda University, she was professionally affiliated with Amity University Noida, JECRC University, Jaipur and University Five Year Law College, Jaipur. She has authored research articles, book chapters and co-edited a book. She has presented papers in various national and international journals. Her areas of interest are American Writing, Indian Literature, Women Writing and Post Colonial Literature.

Dr R. Rajesh, (MA, MPhil, PhD), is working as Assistant Professor and heading the Department of English Language Studies, Madurai Kamaraj University, Tamilnadu. He is specialized in English Language Teaching and Applied Linguistics. He has published 3 books including 'Developing Cognitive Skills in English - ESL Activities', Cognitive Development in English Language Teaching', and 'Cheat or Cheated' and 10 research articles in international and national journals. He did an international project on 'Enhancing Cognitive Skills in Science through Hp Digital Technology' and he has received 'Innovation in Education Award' from ISTE, USA. He has guided 5 PhD research scholars and 21 MPhil scholars. He has served as a member in various academic committees including Board of Studies, Admission Monitoring Committee, Doctoral Committee, Selection Committee, University Inspection Committee Member for Course Affiliation, Syllabus Committee, and NAAC Core Working Committee, etc. He is a life member of International Society for Technology in Education, USA, International Association of Teachers of English as a Foreign Language (IATEFL), ELTAI, American Association for Applied Linguistics, Indian Society for Technical Education, Indian School Psychology Association (INSPA).

Pooja Thulasan is a doctoral candidate in English Literature from the School of Languages, Amity University Chhattisgarh, Raipur. She has a BA (Hons) in English Literature with Journalism and MA in English from Mahatma Gandhi University, Kottayam. Her research involves locating traditional culture and identity of transitional Bhutan in select works of Kunzang Choden. Her specialization during her master's journey was in Subaltern Culture in Indian Slums. She is currently working as an Assistant Professor in the department of English at Santhigiri College, Thodupuzha, Kerala.

Dr Indrani Singh Rai is a Professor at Amity School of Languages, Amity University, Chhattisgarh. She has 23 years of teaching experience. She is currently supervising five PhD scholars. She has completed a state Govt. project as PI and has filed a patent. During her professional career, she has published around 47 research publications and book chapters, attended various national and international seminars and conferences, organized various workshops, FDPs and delivered speeches as a resource person. Her specialization is on Cultural Studies, South Asian English Literature, Indian Literature and Spiritual Cognition.

Dr G. Priya is an Assistant Professor of English at Fatima College, Madurai. With a rich teaching experience of fifteen years, she enjoys presenting her dynamic deliberations in Conferences and Seminars and publishing her critical perceptions. She has edited a book and her areas of specialization are Gender Studies and African Literature. She loves to imprint her thoughts in Creative Writing and spreads positive vibes to the world at large. She fosters the research quest of learners and is currently guiding four PhD scholars.

Dr Anand Prakash Dwivedi, (MA, PhD), is an Assistant Professor in the Postgraduate Department of English, D.C.S. Khandelwal Postgraduate College, Mau affiliated to MSD State University, Azamgarh. He has published two dozen research articles in various reputed journals and anthologies. He has also contributed papers in seminars and conferences. His area of interest includes Indo-Anglian Literature, Diaspora Literature, Contemporary Literature and Dalit Literature. He also guides research scholars.

Dr Arindam Ghosh is an Assistant Professor of English in Krishna Chandra College, Hetampur, Birbhum, affiliated with The University of Burdwan. He was a Junior Research Fellow of the Department of English, University of Calcutta from 2012 to 2017. He finished his MPhil from the same Department in 2014. He has been awarded with the PhD degree from the Department of English in Samuel Beckett's Selected Novels." He has more than 25 academic publications to his credit, which includes many peer-reviewed international journals as well as books. His area of specialization includes Modernism, Literature and Philosophy Encounter, Samuel Beckett, and Critical Theory.

Dr C. Ramya, (MBA, MA, MPhil, PhD), presently works as an Assistant Professor of English in EMG Yadava Women's College, Madurai, Tamil Nadu, India. She has completed her master's degree in English, master's degree in Business Administration, Master of Philosophy and doctoral degree in English. She has eight years of teaching experience. She has authored/co-authored eight books and has published 129 research papers in peer-reviewed/CARE-listed journals and edited anthologies. Four candidates have been awarded their PhD under her guidance. Her areas of interest are Psychoanalysis, Spiritual Studies, Dalit Literature and Comparative Literature.

Dr K. J. Sibi is an Assistant Professor in the Department of English at Shivprasad Sadanand Jaiswal College, Arjuni-Morgaon, affiliated to RTM Nagpur University, Nagpur, Maharashtra. He has received his PhD from Rashtrasant Tukadoji Maharaj Nagpur University, Nagpur. He has done his post-graduation degree, MA English from Sant Gadge Baba Amravati University, Amravati. His areas of interest span various topics including Indian Writing in English, Subaltern Literature and Translated fiction from Indian Languages. His book under the title, A Perspective Study of the Silenced Class in Arundhati Roy's The God of Small Things has been published. He has published chapters in books. He has presented research papers in various national and international seminars and conferences. His research papers have been published in different international journals and UGC CARE-listed journals.

Dr Nidhi Shukla is working as an Assistant Professor in the Department of English, Guru Nanak College, Velachery, Chennai. She has presented papers in many international and national level seminars as well as conferences. She has been teaching English since 2008. She worked as an English teacher in Uttar Pradesh and Maharashtra. She was one of the members of NSS, Press Committee, and UGC Committee in her previous working place. One research level book is also published by her in April 2022. She is the Vice-President of ELTAI Centre, Chennai.

Dr K. M. Keerthika, (MA, MPhil, PhD), is an Assistant Professor in the Department of English at V. V. Vanniaperumal College for Women, Virudhunagar. Her PhD research was on "Women Stoicism and Self Identity in the Select Novels of Bharati Mukherjee, Chitra Banerjee Divakaruni and JhumpaLahiri: A Psychospiritual Approach." She has attended eight international conferences and presented papers out of which five papers were published in different journals and three in proceedings in books with ISBNs. She has published 23 papers in international, peer-reviewed and UGC-approved journals and also attended four workshops. She has also contributed five papers in five books with special focus on Dalit Literature and Dalit Feminism.

Dr N. Kaushi Reddy, (MA, MPhil, PhD), is an Assistant Professor of English at KristuJayanti College (Autonomous), Bengaluru. She has done PhD in English Literature from Madurai Kamaraj University, Madurai, her thesis topic entitled as "Thematic Concerns and Stylistic Devices as Projected in the Fictional World of Bharati Mukherjee: An Exploration." She has published 30 papers in international, peer-reviewed and UGC Approved journals; and has attended and presented papers in three international conferences. She has also attended three workshops held at various universities. She has also contributed her research papers in four books especially on Dalit Literature. Her areas of interest are Indian Writing in English, Dalit Literature and Diasporic Literature.

Preetha Prabhasan is at present working as an Assistant Professor at Government College for Women, Thiruvananthapuram, Kerala. She has 14 years of teaching experience and is a former member of the Senate of the University of Kerala. She spends quality time on teaching, writing and publishing across disciplines. She was a resource person for SCERT and has done video lessons for E-Padhasala, an MHRD Project for education through ICT, a project of the Indian Government. Her areas of interest are Gender Studies, Cultural Studies and Literatures of Resistance. She has organised Conferences related to these areas. She has presented research papers in both National and International conferences. She has also published research papers in national and international journals and edited anthologies.

Premchandar P. is a Part-Time PhD scholar in the Department of English and Comparative Literature, Madurai Kamaraj University. He is researching on the title "Arun Joshi's Fictional Forte in Picturizing the Actual Facts of Human Experience and Uncompromising Quest for Identity and Psychic Crisis: An Evaluation." His interested areas of research are Indian Writing in English, Existentialism and Psychoanalytical Studies. He has published around five research articles in various national, international and UGC CARE group journals. He has done his MA English and MPhil from Lovely Professional University, Punjab and has qualified NTA UGC-NET. Currently, he is also working as an Assistant Professor, English at SCAD College of Engineering and Technology, Tirunelveli in the Department of Science and Humanities. He has acquired more than 2 years of English language teaching experience in an engineering college.

Aratrika Roy is currently teaching in the Department of English of Malda College, Malda, West Bengal, India as an Assistant Professor and has completed her graduation and master's degree in English from Jadavpur University. She has 8 years of teaching experience and has published few research articles besides presenting papers in national and international conferences. Her areas of interest include Linguistics, Gender Studies and Cultural Studies.

Arooj Zeba is an aspiring writer and English Honours graduate from Jamia Millia Islamia University, New Delhi, India. She is currently pursuing her master's in English from Amity University, Noida, India. She has a deep passion for writing and research work. During her undergraduate studies, Arooj developed a keen interest in feminist literature and studies that highlight the importance and experiences of women in literature. Her academic journey has allowed her to explore various facets of literature, including poetry, fiction, and drama. Driven and motivated by literature, Arooj has conducted and documented interviews of the lives of queer people. She has worked as a translator for Red Fish, a German-based media company. Arooj is a freelance writer who aspires to make her mark as a writer and hopes to explore the intersections of identity, culture, and society through her work.

Disha Mondal, hailing from Santiniketan, West Bengal, has completed her schooling from Patha-Bhavana, a school founded by Rabindranath Tagore. She pursued her higher studies in English Literature and French Literature respectively. Her writing career started in 2014 and she has 18 papers and 3 books in her name. Her debut book, Rabindranath, Vaishnavism and Baul (2021), earned her the "Upcoming Author of the Year 2022 award" from Ukiyoto Publishing house. Her second book, Memories of 1857: Participation of the Dalit Women, was published by Dreamboat Publishing. Her third book, titled Présence Coloniale Française en Inde, is written in French and was published by Ukiyoto Publication House. Disha has been awarded the Non-Fiction Woman Author of the Year 2022-23 by Ukiyoto. Currently, she is living in Raipur and working as an Assistant Professor of French in Amity University, Chhattisgarh.

Donkaolung Malangmei is a PhD Research Scholar in the Department of English and Cultural Studies, Manipur University. He has presented papers at national and international seminars/conferences. He has cleared his UGC-NET exam and is currently serving as an Assistant Professor of English at Mount Everest College, Senapati, Manipur. He has published his papers in reputed journals.

Sri Vishwaraju S. B., (MA, MPhil, BEd), is working as the Head, Department of Commercial Practice, Government Polytechnic for Women, Ramanagara. He is also a Research Scholar in the Department of Languages at Presidency University, Bengaluru. He has been working as a Senior Grade Lecturer in English in the Department of Collegiate and Technical Education since 2010.

Dr Narasimha Murthy S. V., (MA, MPhil, PhD), is an Associate Professor in the Department of Languages Presidency University, Bengaluru, since 2019. He has a vast experience of teaching for 36 years in Indian and African universities. He has published more than 14 articles in various national and international journals.

Helen Varghese is currently a postgraduate student in English at AIESR, Amity University, Noida. She has a keen interest in exploring the nuances of feminism and its various forms of expressions, especially subaltern feminism. Her passion for understanding the experiences of marginalized communities and their struggles for liberation led her to undertake research on subaltern feminism. She has demonstrated a deep commitment to social justice issues and has actively contributed to various initiatives aimed at promoting gender equity and empowerment. Her research on subaltern feminism is a testament to her unwavering commitment to creating a more just and equitable world.

Dr Reena Singh has nineteen years of experience in the field of Literature and Communication, which began from NIIT Allahabad then KIET Group of Institutions. Currently, she is working in Amity University, Noida. Her area of specialization includes Diaspora, Indian Writing in English, Gender Studies, and Communication. She has published three papers in international journals, three papers in UGC-approved journals and three Scopus publications. She has also presented twelve papers in international conferences and three in national conferences. Till now she has guided two MPhil scholars and is currently guiding three PhD scholars.

Iepsa Rathore is currently a postgraduate student in English at AIESR, Amity University, Noida. Her research inclines towards the study of marginalised communities of gender, race, and caste supported by the theories of diaspora, existentialism, identity crisis, alienation, and globalisation. She is a keen observer on how the contemporary world varies in its post-modernist view of these issues compared to a modern era. Her interests lie in outlining problematic issues posed in the works of various underrated authors like Gayatri Gopinath and Eli Clare. She has worked with various under privileged sections of the society facing problems like marginalisation and alienation and also teaches on various online platforms.

J. B. Joshiha Bell is a Full-Time Research Scholar in the Department of English and Comparative Literature, Madurai Kamaraj University, Madurai. She is a budding researcher who focuses on African American Literature and her research is on the "Trauma Narratives of Womanhood and Feminine Perspectives in the Works of Toni Morrison and Alice Walker." She has published five articles in peer-reviewed and UGC-approved journals and has presented a paper in an international conference at Pondicherry University entitled "Popular Culture and Contemporary Literature." She has also contributed her research papers in two books on Indian Literature. Her areas of interest include African American Literature, Indian Writing in English and Comparative Literature.

Jayini Bhaumik is a PhD Research Scholar in the Department of English at Central University of South Bihar. She has done her MA from Calcutta University and has 7 research papers in various journals of repute and has presented papers in many national and international seminars and conferences. She has taught English Literature in Bangabasi Evening College for a year. Recently she has submitted her thesis, which revolved around Northeast India's Conflict and Heritage.

Jefna J. R. is currently a postgraduate student in English at AIESR, Amity University, Noida. She did her BA English literature under Manonmaniam Sundaranar University Tirunelveli. Her research includes the themes of existentialism, meaningless human life , the importance of the physical world, absurdism, freedom, rebellion and rejection of Social norms in Albert Camus's books The Stranger, Caligula and The Myth of Sisyphus.

Dr Suraj Nandkumar Dhumal is an Assistant Professor of English at Amity University Noida. He is guiding three PhD scholars at present. He has a wide range of publications in Scopus and other reputed journals. He has organised and presented research papers in various national and international conferences.

M. Parvatha Varthini, (MA, MPhil), is working as a Guest Lecturer in the Department of English Language Studies at Madurai Kamaraj University, Madurai. She is a Part-Time PhD Scholar in English working under the supervision of Dr C. Ramya at Madurai Kamaraj University, Madurai. She has cleared National Eligibility Test (NET), APSET conducted by Andhra University and GATE in English conducted by IIT Bombay. She has published three papers in peer-reviewed and UGC-approved journals. She has attended and presented papers in two international conferences on "Individual, Social and Gender Conflicts as Highlighted in Modern Literature" and "Human Praxis and Moral Configuration through Literature" held in the Department of English, Madurai Kamaraj University, Madurai. She has attended three workshops titled "Nurturing Academic Integrity: Consistency & Transparency in Academia" and "Interrogating the Postcolonial Paradigms in African Literature" and "Natural Language Processing" at various colleges.

Mohammed Musthafa is a PhD Research Scholar in the Department of English at Maulana Azad National Urdu University, Hyderabad. He is currently working on resilience narratives in English literature with regards to the conceptual framework of successful aging. He has already qualified UGC NET in English and he has achieved Maulana Azad National Fellowship for PhD scholars. He has published a couple of research articles in renowned peer-reviewed international journals.

S. Sujitha, (MA, BEd, MPhil, PGDELT) is a PhD Research Scholar (Part-Time) in the PG & Research Department of English at Sri Meenakshi Govt. Arts College for Women (Autonomous), Madurai. She has passed MA and MPhil (English) from Arignar Anna (Arts & Science) College, (Affiliated to Periyar University), Salem. She has a Bachelor of Education from Adhiyaman College of Education, Hosur. She has participated and presented papers in international conference proceedings. She has also attended various workshops and online webinars. Her papers have been published in edited anthologies and peer-reviewed national and international journals with impact factors. Her areas of interest are Indian English Literature, Dalit Literature and Afro-American Literature. She is currently doing PhD with selected novels of Anita Nair.

Talat is a Research Scholar in the Department of Humanities and Social Sciences at National Institute of Technology Patna, Patna, Bihar. She has presented papers in various national and international conferences. Her areas of interests are gender studies, Dalit literature, marginality, memory studies, exclusion, and cultural studies. At present, she is working on her doctoral thesis on Dalit Women's Writings.

Konica Chanda is currently appointed as a State Aided College Teacher in English Literature at Asannagar Madan Mohan Tarkalankar College, Nadia, West Bengal. She completed her Masters in English Literature from the University of Kalyani in the year 2015. She has submitted her MPhil thesis "Representation of Brick Lane in the New Novel for Multicultural Britain: A Select Study" in the Department of English and Culture Studies of the University of Burdwan in 2022. Her areas of interest include Postcolonial Literature, Feminists Literature, African and American Literature. She also teaches at Kanyashree University as a visiting faculty for the Department of English.

Meenu Bhola, (MA, MPhil, UGC-NET), is presently serving in the Postgraduate Department of English at Guru Nanak College for Women, Banga, Punjab. She has done her master's degree from DAV College, Amritsar. Her area of interest includes Critical Theories, Cultural Studies, Feminism and Diasporic Literature. She has contributed research articles in various conferences, books and journals of repute.

Dr K. Srividhya is an Assistant Professor at Department of English in Anna Adarsh College for Women, Chennai. She has completed her MA, MPhil and PhD from the University of Madras and has 20 years of teaching experience. She has represented and co-ordinated various department programmes, presented, published papers both at national and international level.

Sandeep Tilak is working as an Assistant Professor at Seshadripuram First Grade College, Yelahanka, Bangalore. He is pursuing PhD in Libyan literature at Presidency University, Bangalore. His areas of interest include children's literature, marginalized literature, exile, and Arab literature. He has organized as well as participated in conferences and initiatives for faculty development. He has to his credit the presentation and publication of paper on "Gender Representation in Childen's Books.

Dr Priyanka is working as an Assistant Professor of English at College of Agriculture, Keladi Shivappa Nayaka University of Agricultural and Horticultural Sciences, Shivamogga. She has a PhD in Palestinian Literature from National Institute of Technology Karnataka, Surathkal. She has done her doctoral research on the novels of Sahar Khalifeh. Her interests are in the field of Middle Eastern Literatures, Women's Literature, Gender Studies, and Settler Colonialism. She is good in public relations and also assisted in organizing workshops, faculty development programme and conferences. She has published several research articles in reputed national and international journals.

Dr Y. John Ilavarasu, (MA, MPhil, PhD), is an Assistant Professor of English in Agurchand Manmull Jain College, Meenambakkam, Chennai which is affiliated to University of Madras. He has 19 years of teaching experience and has contributed to various academic bodies and research projects. He has presented and published many papers in national and international conferences. His areas of interest are Postcolonial Literature, Diaspora and Indian Writing in English.

Dr Meenu Dudeja is working as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Humanities at Maharaja Agrasen Institute of Technology, New Delhi. She has more than 20 years of teaching experience. A writer, researcher, teacher and mentor, she has developed a keen interest in Gender Studies. Her vast experience of research into the field of Partition and Gender Studies marks her expertise of an eminent personality in the domain of literature. She has presented a plethora of research papers both in national and international conferences. She has participated in many workshops and seminars. She has authored three books titled Communication Skills for Professionals, Communication Skill Part 2 and Lab Manual for Professionals.

K. Monika is a PhD Scholar in English at VIT, Vellore. She is working on Latin American Literature. Her research publications include Scopus, non-Scopus international peer-reviewed, UGC CARE-listed and refereed journals and book chapters. She has passed the UGC NET five times. She has published seven papers in international peer-reviewed and indexed journals and three book chapters. Her areas of interest are Postcolonial Literature, Ecocriticism, Latin American Literature and Postcolonial Ecocriticism.

Dr S. Meenakshi is an Associate Professor of English at VIT, Vellore. She has produced a PhD candidate and is guiding six scholars at present. She has published 33 papers in international peer-reviewed and indexed journals and 20 book chapters. She had been Adjunct faculty in the Guangdong University of Technology-Guangzhou-China. She coordinated international, national, and state-level conferences and seminars at VIT. Her areas of interest are English Language Teaching, Psychoanalytical Criticism, Postcolonial Literature, Ecocriticism. Her areas of interest are English Language Teaching, Psychoanalytical Criticism, Postcolonial Literature and Ecocriticism.

Dr Tejaswini Ram Tupe has been working as an Assistant Professor at D. R. K. College of Commerce, Kolhapur. She has completed her PhD from Shivaji University, Kolhapur. She has contributed research papers in reputed national and international journals. Her research interests are feminine consciousness, multiculturalism, diaspora, cross-cultural conflict, post-colonialism, trauma studies, existentialism, etc.

Dr Alok Chandra is an established editor, author, poet, and academician who hails from Bargaon, Nalanda, Bihar. He has obtained his PhD degree in English from Nava Nalanda Mahavihara, Deemed to be University, Under Ministry of Culture, Govt. of India, Nalanda, Bihar. He has published his numerous papers in both international journals and edited books. He has also participated and presented his papers in national and international conferences/seminars. So far, he has seven published books on core/major domains of English literature including anthologies to his credit. He has acted as a resource person/keynote speaker in international conferences/seminars and also actively rendered his active role as a moderator in FDPs.

Kanika Bhati is currently a postgraduate student in English at AIESR, Amity University, Noida. She has a deep passion for writing. Her research work inclines towards the study of Children's Literature. She is inspired by the works of C.S. Lewis and Roald Dahl. She has also worked for the various NGOs namely Jax Foundation and Karuna NGO to save children from disability, improve quality of lives of children and adults with disabilities and bring progressive changes in the lives of families at risk.

Meenu Bhola, (MA, MPhil, UGC-NET), is presently serving in the Postgraduate Department of English at Guru Nanak College for Women, Banga, Punjab. She has done her master's degree from DAV College, Amritsar. Her area of interest includes Critical Theories, Cultural Studies, Feminism and Diasporic Literature. She has contributed research articles in various conferences, books and journals of repute.

Dr Surendra Kumar Sao, (MA, MPhil, PhD), is an Assistant Professor at Late Shri Jaidev Satpathi Govt. College Basna, District Mahasamund, Chhattisgarh which is affiliated to Pandit Ravishankar Shukla University Raipur, Chhattisgarh. His areas of interest are Modern American Poetry, Post-Colonial Literature and Critical Theories. He has presented his papers in many national and international seminars and conferences. His papers have been published in many national and international journals.

Dr Sushama Mishra is an Assistant Professor and Head, Department of English, Govt. Pt. Shyamacharan Shukla College, Dharsiwa, Raipur, (Chhattisgarh). She has 14 years of teaching experience. Her research papers are published in international and national peer reviewed research journals. She has attended and presented research papers in many international and national conferences and seminars. She has chaired 2 sessions in international seminars. Her areas of interest are Indian Writing in English, American Literature and Linguistics. She also serves as an Associate NCC officer since 2014. Currently, she is nominated as a member of Central Board of studies for preparing the syllabus of English Language for UG students of Chhattisgarh.

Dr Kusum Kangar, (MA, MPhil, PhD), is an Associate Professor in the Department of English at BAR Janta College, Kaul, Kaithal, Haryana. She has earned her MPhil from Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra. She has been awarded her doctoral degree on Angela Carter and Bapsi Sidhwa from NIMS University, Jaipur. She is the winner of the Innovative Professor of the Year Award, Best Anthology Award, Young Intellectual of the Year and A. P. J. Abdul Kalam Award. She has presented and published her papers in many national and international seminars and conferences. She has published 3 books and many papers in many national and international journals and edited anthologies.

Dr Suruchi Sharma, (MA, PhD, UGC-NET), is an Associate Professor in the Department of English at the RKSD College, Kaithal, Haryana. She has done her PG from KMV Autonomous College, Jalandhar, Punjab. She has been awarded PhD in English on Khaled Hosseini. She has received the Young Intellectual of the Year Award, Achiever's Award and Best Anthology Award, Top 10 Best Professors India and A. P. J. Abdul Kalam Award. Her areas of interest are Diaspora Studies, Critical Theories and Cultural Studies. She has presented her papers in many national and international seminars and conferences. She has published three books. Her papers have been published in many national and international journals, seminar/conference proceedings and several edited anthologies.

Dr Bishakha Mandal is Associate Professor at Amity University Madhya Pradesh, Gwalior. Her areas of interests are Modern and Postmodern Theoretical Studies of Social Psychology, i.e. Alienation and Existentialism exploring the Indian Diaspora; Mythological Literature, Diasporic Literature, Feminism, Comparative Literature and Cultural Studies. She has presented papers at various national/international seminars and conferences and has published research papers in various journals. She has a keen interest in fine-arts, and is passionate about teaching, reading and writing verses and prose. She has published poems in online journals and write ups in the Times of India: Gwalior Plus at Gwalior.

Dr Protibha Mukherjee Sahukar is currently holding the post of the Principal, Durga Mahavidyalaya, Raipur, Chhattisgarh. She has an MPhil and a PhD from Pt. Ravishankar Shukla University, Raipur, Chhattisgarh. Her doctoral work was on Black Feminist Consciousness in the Novels of Toni Morrison. She has been teaching undergraduate and postgraduate classes for more than thirty five years now. Her main interest lies in Modern Grammar. Her main fields of expertise are African American Literature, Native American Literature, Postcolonial Writing, and Women Studies. She has a book to her credit and has publications in several national and international journals. She has presented papers at several national and international conferences and has a number of chapters in literary anthologies. She has also been a part of curriculum and syllabi design as a Member of Board of Studies, English (Pt. Ravishankar Shukla University) for MA, MPhil, PhD Course Work, Diploma in English. At present, she is a Member of Board of Studies, English to Govt. J. Yoganandam Chhattisgarh College, Raipur. She is a research supervisor with the affiliated university.

Jeevan Sagar is a graduate in Arts and an MA in English Literature from Durga Mahavidyalaya, Raipur from Pt. Ravishankar Shukla University, Raipur with a merit rank. He qualified UGC-NET in July 2015. He has done BEd from IGNOU and PGCTE from EFLU, Hyderabad. At present, he is pursuing his doctoral studies from Pt. Ravishankar Shukla University, Raipur. Prior to joining HNLU, he had been an Assistant Professor in Govt. Engineering College, Jagdalpur under Directorate of Technical Education. He has also served as a Lecturer in the Department of Education, Chhattisgarh, a teacher trainer and an Assistant Professor in St. Vincent Pallotti College, Raipur. He has attended various cascade seminars and conferences on English Language Teaching organized by the British Council, Cambridge University Press and EFLU

Dr Susheela B., [MA (English), MA (History), MPhil, PhD (English), BEd Diploma in French], is currently working as a Professor in the Department of English at Jyoti Nivas College (Autonomous), Bangalore, Karnataka. She has thirty years of experience in teaching English Language and Literature. Apart from teaching, she has participated and presented research papers at both national and international levels and has published several research articles in national and international journals. She is also a member of the Bangalore University Textbook Committee for six years and a part of the Department textbook Committee for sixteen years. She has been a part of the textbook Committee of her Department and has brought out textbooks for the past thirteen years. She is the recipient of the Global Teaching Excellence Award in 2020 for her contribution to the Education Community at the GTEA Conference held in Delhi. She also won an award for the Best Research Paper in 2021. She has been invited as a resource person to deliver lectures on Language and Literature at other colleges. She is also an external paper setter in English for other colleges and universities. She actively participates in several social awareness programs sponsored by the Green Peace Association for Environment, Spit Free India Movement, World Wide Fund for Nature and has travelled extensively for research. She is the Secretary of the Eco-Club of Bangalore and has conducted several programs to create awareness for nature.

Dr Shikha Saxena presently works as a Professor and the Head of the Department of Humanities in Maharaja Agrasen Institute of Technology, Delhi (Affiliated to GGSIPU, Delhi). She has more than 23 years of teaching experience. She is a poet, a short-story writer and an ELT expert. She has 43 papers to her credit in reputed national and international journals and edited anthologies. Her poems have been published in reputed international journals. She has attended various workshops. She has also participated in international conferences as a resource person.

Dr S. Chelliah, (MA, PhD, DLitt), has been the Dean of Arts, Humanities & Languages; and Professor, Head, and Chairperson of School of English and Foreign Languages; and Special Officer for Planning & Development at Madurai Kamaraj University, Madurai (Tamil Nadu). He has produced 33 PhD scholars, 220 MPhil scholars and 231 MA projects. He has published 24 books and 360 research papers in various national and international journals and edited anthologies. He has been the convenor of five international conferences, six webinars, two seminars and three workshops. Dr Chelliah has served as the Dean for Curriculum Development of Madurai Kamaraj University, Director for Board of Studies Section, Director for Spoken English Institute of Madurai Kamaraj University, Co-ordinator for CBCS Wing, Liaison Officer for SC/ST Cell of Madurai Kamaraj University and Member of Board of Studies of both UG/PG of Pondicherry University, Manonmaniam Sundaranar University, Bharathidasan University, Bharathiar University and Gandhigram Rural University.